

Appeal for premature babies

MORE than 17,000 little miracles are born every year in Australia, 4700 in Queensland alone.

It's no surprise there is a big team behind each and every one of the premature babies that just couldn't wait the whole nine months.

The Royal Brisbane and

Women's Hospital Perinatal Research Centre (PRC) this week launched its fifth Mother's Day Appeal to raise money for giving premature and sick babies the best possible start in life.

Media and Communications consultant for the RBWH Jasmine Malone said the launch was the biggest yet, with record corporate and community support.

The Mother's Day Appeal coincided with the launch of The One-Armed Cookbook, a cookbook designed for busy parents.

Many celebrities contributed, including famous UK chef Gordon Ramsay.
